DESCRIPTION

Here's a smart and capable 2011 Audi A3 Sport Sportback that delivers that familiar premium feel without compromising on everyday practicality. Finished in sleek black with a five-door hatchback shape, it's ideal for city driving yet still comfortable for longer journeys. The 2.0 TDI engine gives strong all-round performance while keeping running costs sensible—an excellent choice for drivers who want quality, comfort and efficiency in one package.

Under the bonnet is a 2.0-litre diesel paired with a smooth manual gearbox and 138 bhp, producing 115 g/km CO2 for Euro 5 compliance. With five doors and seating for five, the A3 is genuinely useable day to day, offering easy access for passengers and a practical boot for shopping, weekends away or commuting. It's a well-rounded specification built for drivers who prefer engaging manual driving.

This example has covered 140,750 miles and been well maintained by its three previous owners. The car is ready for its next chapter and would be a great fit for anyone looking for a reliable, efficient Audi hatchback.
